WELCOME NOTE

Dear media colleague,

Firstly, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for all of your support for Team Scotland in the lead up to the Games.

This has been no ordinary Games cycle and over the course of the next two weeks in Birmingham, we are going to experience a Games like never before. Your support in telling the athletes' stories and the story of Team Scotland is hugely appreciated by everyone at Commonwealth Games Scotland.

I am sure the athletes will repay that faith with some outstanding performances and compelling stories. Pulling on the Scotland vest is a huge honour and for some this opportunity comes only once every four years, making it an incredibly special moment for so many.

We have produced this handbook to help aid your background knowledge and understanding of both Team Scotland and the media operations overlay in Birmingham.

Please use all the links available in this guide to click through to our athlete profiles or to follow their progress on social media. You will find a variety of information to help you navigate Birmingham 2022, as well as useful contacts for your time in the West Midlands.

The entire Team Scotland-appointed media team are here to help you, so please don't hesitate to contact us during the Games if there is anything we can help you with.

My very best wishes, and I hope you enjoy the Games.

Sophie Ashcroft
Head of Media, Team Scotland

MEDIA CONTACTS

TEAM SCOTLAND PRESS OFFICE

The Team Scotland media team will have a presence in all Birmingham 2022 Villages, with a base operating at Scotland House, University College Birmingham – Summer Row. We will be fully operational from 22 July 2022. Please note that the Commonwealth Games Scotland HQ in Stirling will be closed for the duration of the Games from 18 July – 10 August 2022 with all staff contactable in Birmingham.

SCOTLAND HOUSE

We look forward to welcoming Birmingham 2022 accredited media to Scotland House where there will be working space available and the majority of Team Scotland post competition media activity will be held.

Scotland House at University College Birmingham, Summer Row, Birmingham B3 1JB

DID YOU KNOW?

Aquatics is Scotland's most successful Commonwealth Games sport ahead of Athletics and Boxing.

At Gold Coast 2018, Duncan Scott became Team Scotland's most successful athlete at a single Games with six medals in the pool: one gold, one silver and four bronze.

In 2018 James Heatly became Scotland's first diving medallist since his grandfather Sir Peter Heatly in 1958. Grace Reid won Scotland's first diving gold medal for 60 years and a first ever in the women's events.

Peter Heatly is Scotland's most successful athlete in Aquatics with three gold, one silver and one bronze in Diving, won between 1950 and 1958.

Swimmer Elenor Gordon was Scotland's first ever female Commonwealth Games gold medallist and, at 16, our youngest ever gold medallist. Her three gold and a bronze make her Scotland's top female athlete and most successful swimmer in Games history.

ATHLETICS

Athletics has featured on the sports programme of every Commonwealth Games since their inception in 1930 and has more countries competing in it than any other sport on the Games programme. The track & field competition at Birmingham 2022 will take place in the revamped Alexander Stadium, also the venue for the Opening and Closing Ceremonies.

Since 2002 a number of para-sport events have been included in the athletics programme with Birmingham 2022 including six for men (T12 100m, T38 100m, T47 100m, T54 1500m & Marathon and F44/64 Discus) and six for women (T34 100m, T38 100m, T54 1500m & Marathon, F57 Shot, F44/64 Discus).

COMPETITION DATES

Marathon: Saturday 30 July (Day 2) Track & Field: Tuesday 2 August (Day 5) to Sunday 7 August (Day 10)

Allan Wells is Scotland's most successful athletics competitor with four gold, one silver and one bronze medal.

Liz McColgan is Scotland's most successful female performer in athletics with two gold and one bronze medal.

Six athletes have previously represented Team Scotland at the Commonwealth Youth Games.

With five medals, Gold Coast 2018 saw the biggest medal tally for athletics since 1990.

There are two returning medallists in the Birmingham 2022 athletics team: Mark Dry (hammer bronze in 2014 and 2018) and Jake Wightman (1500m bronze in 2018).

BADMINTON

Badminton has featured in every Commonwealth Games since its debut in Kingston in 1966. England and Malaysia have dominated the sport, topping the all-time medal table and winning every edition of the Team competition between them until India took the honours at Gold Coast 2018. For Birmingham 2022 Kirsty Gilmour goes in her fourth Games and four further players return from Gold Coast and four make their Games debut.

Silver for Kirsty Gilmour at Glasgow 2014 was Scotland's best ever result in a singles event. She added a bronze to her tally at Gold Coast 2018.

Scotland's only gold in badminton to date came at the 1986 Games in Edinburgh where Billy Gilliland and Dan Travers won the Men's Doubles.

Elinor Middlemiss, Team Scotland Chef de Mission for B2022, competed at five Commonwealth Games in badminton, winning two bronze medals.

Billy Gilliland is Scotland's most successful badminton player at the Commonwealth Games with a full set of medals: one gold, one silver and one bronze.

Badminton is the second most popular participation sport in the world, after football.

A shuttlecock is made from cork, leather and goose feathers.

Birmingham 2022 will be the first time a Commonwealth Games basketball event has been held outside Australia.

4th place at Gold Coast 2018 is Team Scotland's best ever result in a team event at a Commonwealth Games.

All four players selected for the men's team for Birmingham played at Gold Coast 2018. Gareth Murray becomes the first basketball player to compete at three Games.

Robyn Love and Jude Hamer were part of Team GB's Wheelchair Basketball side for Tokyo 2022.

Robyn Love is one of six Pride Ambassadors, selected from across the Commonwealth, for the Birmingham 2022 Games.

Birmingham 2022 is the first time Team Scotland will compete in women's basketball.

Scotland's Lynne Beattie captained Team GB's Indoor Volleyball squad at the London 2012 Olympic Games.

Both Beach Volleyball finals at Gold Coast 2018 were contested by Australia and Canada. Australia won the men's event, but Canada claimed gold in the women's tournament.

Matches are a best of three sets with the first two sets played to 21 points and the third set (if necessary) played to 15 points.

Formerly the site of Birmingham's Wholesale Markets, Smithfield will be the home of the beach volleyball and basketball 3x3 competitions for Birmingham 2022.

DID YOU KNOW?

Scotland sit fourth on the all-time Commonwealth Games boxing medal table behind England, Canada and Australia.

Glasgow 2014 was the first time women competed in boxing at a Commonwealth Games.

There is a three way tie for the title of Scotland's most successful Commonwealth Games boxer; Josh Taylor, Tom Imrie and Dick McTaggart each won one gold and one silver medal.

Megan Reid becomes the third Scottish woman to box at a Commonwealth Games after Vicky Glover and Megan Gordon competed at Gold Coast 2018.

Reese Lynch comes into Birmingham 2022 off the back of becoming the first Scot ever to win a World Championships medal at senior level with bronze in Serbia in November 2021.

2017 Commonwealth Youth Games medallist Sam Hickey secured Scotland's first European Championships medal for 16 years with bronze in Armenia in May 2022.

CYCLING

Cycling was first introduced into the sports programme in 1934 and has featured in every Commonwealth Games since. Birmingham 2022 will once again see riders compete in Track, Road and Mountain Bike events. Para-Sport Track Cycling made its Games debut at Glasgow 2014 and returns for Birmingham 2022, having also been included at Gold Coast 2018.

COMPETITION DATES

Track Cycling: Friday 29 July (Day 1) to Monday 1 August (Day 4)

Mountain Bike XC: Wednesday 3 August (Day 6)
Road: Time Trial: Thursday 4 August (Day 7) / Road Race: Sunday 7 August (Day 10)

VENUE

Track & Para Track: Lee Valley VeloPark, London
Mountain Bike: Cannock Chase Forest
Road: Time Trial: West Park, Wolverhampton / Road Race: Myton Fields, Warwick

DID YOU KNOW?

Neil Fachie is Scotland's most successful Commonwealth Games cyclist with four gold medals.

Libby Clegg will make her para-cycling debut for Team Scotland after winning gold in athletics at Glasgow 2014.

Scottish cyclists won 10 medals at Gold Coast 2018, the sport's highest ever tally at a single Games.

Scotland's first Commonwealth Games cycling medallist was Brian Temple, who won silver in the 10 mile Scratch Race at Edinburgh 1970.

There are six previous cycling medallists included in the Birmingham 2022 team.

The velodrome at Lee Valley staged the London 2012 Track Cycling competition, where Chris Hoy won two gold medals to take his Olympic tally to six gold and a silver – a record only beaten by Jason Kenny in 2021.

GYMNASTICS

Artistic Gymnastics was first included in the Commonwealth Games in 1978 and, after a gap of two Games, has featured in every Games since Auckland 1990. Both men and women compete for medals in the All-Around competition, Individual Apparatus finals and the Team Event. Women compete on four apparatus: Vault, Uneven Bars, Beam and Floor, while men compete on six apparatus: Vault, Rings, Pommel Horse, Parallel Bars, High Bar and Floor.

Rhythmic Gymnastics was first introduced in 1990 and has featured at every Games since. Contested only by women, rhythmic gymnasts compete in Ball, Clubs, Hoop and Ribbon.

COMPETITION DATES

Artistic: Friday 29 July (Day 1) to Tuesday 2 August (Day 5)

Rhythmic: Thursday 4 August (Day 7) to Saturday 6th August (Day 9)

DID YOU KNOW?

Jo Walker was Scotland's first ever Gymnastics medallist with bronze in the Hoop in 1994 - Scotland's only Rhythmic Gymnastics medal to date.

Scotland's first gold medallist in Gymnastics was Steve Frew who took the Rings title at Manchester 2002.

Frank Baines competes at his fourth Games in Birmingham and Shannon Archer her third.

Scotland's most successful Commonwealth Games gymnast is Daniel Keatings, with one gold and two silver medals at Glasgow 2014.

There are 3 returning medallists in the B2022 team: Frank Baines, Hamish Carter and David Weir.

Silver for Scotland's men at Glasgow 2014 was the nation's first medal in the Team Event in Commonwealth Games history. It was followed up with bronze in 2018.

DID YOU KNOW?

Scotland's highest placing in Hockey was a 5th place finish by the women's team at Melbourne 2006.

Sixth place at Gold Coast 2018 represents Scotland's best ever finish in Men's Hockey.

Australia's men have dominated the sport, winning gold at every Games to date. Their women have won gold on all but two occasions – silver at Gold Coast 2018 and bronze in 2002.

Men's captain Alan Forsyth is making his fourth Commonwealth Games appearance.

DID YOU KNOW?

Sarah Adlington and Chris Sherrington both won gold at Glasgow 2014. If either repeat that feat in Birmingham, they would become the first athlete ever to win two Commonwealth Games gold medals in Judo.

Judo was a demonstration sport at Edinburgh 1986 before making its full Games debut four years later in Auckland.

Sarah Clark is Scotland's most successful Commonwealth Games judoka and won medals 12 years apart - silver in 2002 and gold in 2014.

Judo has been Team Scotland's most successful sport on each of the three previous occasions it has been included in the Games.

Bouts last five minutes and are won when one judoka is awarded ippon. If no ippon is awarded, the player with the highest score at the end of the bout is declared the winner.

Glasgow 2014 saw Scotland's judoka win an incredible 13 medals from 14 athletes.

DID YOU KNOW?

Claire Johnston and Caroline Brown compete at their fourth Games at Birmingham 2022, both having won medals at Gold Coast 2018. Johnston took bronze in the Pairs while Brown was part of a first ever Scottish Women's Triples medal with silver.

Already Scotland's most successful bowler in Commonwealth Games history with five gold and one silver – Alex Marshall competes in his seventh Games at Birmingham 2022.

There are 5 returning medallists in the B2022 team.

At 75 years and 8 months when the Games begin, George Miller is the oldest athlete selected for Team Scotland for B2022, and also takes the all-time record from Willie Wood, who was 72 years old at his eighth and final Games in 2010.

DID YOU KNOW?

Scotland fielded a netball team for the first time at Glasgow 2014 and have finished ninth on both their previous Games appearances.

Only four nations have ever won Commonwealth Games medals in Netball: Australia, New Zealand, England and Jamaica.

There are seven playing positions: Goal Shooter (GS), Goal Attack (GA), Wing Attack (WA), Centre (C), Wing Defence (WD), Goal Defence (GD) and Goal Keeper (GK).

A Netball match has two umpires overseeing play.

RUGBY 7s

Rugby 7s made its Commonwealth Games debut in Kuala Lumpur in 1998 for men and Gold Coast 2018 for women. Team Scotland first entered a men's team at Manchester 2002 and Birmingham 2022 will see a Scottish women's team compete for the first time.

Rugby 7s is a variant of Rugby Union in which only seven players per side participate in the match. It is a fast, open, exciting game, which highlights all the skills involved in the game of Rugby.

Sevens is sanctioned by World Rugby and is played under substantially the same rules, and on a field of the same dimensions as the 15-player game.

Rugby 7s is also approved by the IOC as an Olympic sport and made its debut in 2016.

Scotland men's captain Jamie Farndale returns for a second Games after making his senior debut in Gold Coast. He also captained Scotland at the Commonwealth Youth Games in Isle of Man in 2011.

Lee Jones will be competing at his fourth Games at Birmingham 2022.

SQUASH

Squash made its Commonwealth Games debut in Kuala Lumpur in 1998 and has featured at every edition since. The sport requires a remarkable combination of decision-making, racket skills, speed, power, agility, flexibility and reflexes, but the main element is outstanding endurance – cardiovascular and muscular.

Both of Scotland's Squash medals to date came at the 1998 Games in Kuala Lumpur: Peter Nicol took gold in the Singles and a bronze in the Doubles with Stuart Cowie.

A sensational World Doubles Championships performance in April saw Scotland take silver and bronze in the men's event, bronze in the mixed event and fifth place in the women's.

Squash balls are unique in that they need to be 'warmed up' by hitting for a few minutes before play begins.

Squash is played by more than 25 million people on nearly 50,000 courts in 185 countries around the world.

Alan Clyne competes at his fourth Commonwealth Games and will be seeking that elusive medal after fourth place finishes at Delhi 2010, Glasgow 2014 and Gold Coast 2018.

TRIATHLON

Triathlon made its Commonwealth Games debut in 2002 at the Manchester Games and has been a fixture ever since, with the exception of Delhi 2010. Para-Triathlon made its debut in Gold Coast and returns for Birmingham 2022. There are five medal events in the Birmingham 2022 Triathlon competition; Individual Women, Individual Men, Para Individual Women, Para Individual Men and a 'Mixed Team Relay' event.

Combining three unique and challenging disciplines – swimming, cycling and running – Triathlon demonstrates the overall fitness, skill and endurance of the worlds most talented athletes.

Bronze for Marc Austin at Gold Coast 2018 was Scotland's first Triathlon medal at a Commonwealth Games.

Triathlon was a demonstration sport at the 1990 Auckland Games before being granted Commonwealth sport status and included in the Games in 2002.

The 'sprint distance' of a 750m swim, 20km cycle and 5km run was introduced to the Commonwealth Games at Gold Coast 2018 and will be used once again at Birmingham 2022.

The Mixed Team Relay comprises teams of two men and two women. Starting with a man, they then alternate, with each athlete completing a 300 metre swim, 5km cycle and 2km run before tagging their teammate in a relay format.

WEIGHTLIFTING & POWERLIFTING

Weightlifting has been included in the Commonwealth Games programme at every edition since its introduction at the Auckland 1950 Games. Para-Sport Powerlifting was integrated into the Commonwealth Games in Manchester 2002 and has featured ever since.

Weightlifting sees competitors perform three lifts in each of the two disciplines: the snatch (a one-move lift with a wide grip), and the clean and jerk (a close-gripped, two-part lift). In Para-Powerlifting competitors have three attempts to record the heaviest weight possible in the bench press discipline.

WRESTLING

Wrestling was one of the original six sports included in the inaugural Games in 1930 and has been included in all but three editions since. All Commonwealth Games competition has been in Freestyle wrestling, with the exception of Delhi 2010 where a men's Greco-Roman event was added to the programme. Delhi also saw the inclusion of women's wrestling for the first time.

The Birmingham 2022 programme includes six weight categories for men (57kg, 65kg, 74kg, 86kg, 97kg, 125kg) and six for women (50kg, 53kg, 57kg, 62kg, 68kg, 76kg).

Three nations competed in Wrestling at the 1930 Games compared to the 23 nations represented at Gold Coast 2018.

Scotland won two bronze medals in Wrestling at Glasgow 2014 - the nation's first medals in the sport for 20 years.

Scotland's only gold medallist in Wrestling is Edward Melrose who took victory in 1934.

Christelle Lemofack Letchidjio competes for Team Scotland at Birmingham 2022 having represented Cameroon at Glasgow 2014.

Ross Connelly competes at his second Games, following in the footsteps of his dad David who won wrestling bronze at Edinburgh 1986. David is part of the coaching team for Birmingham 2022.
